Gas prices higher in Bay and Waveland than elsewhere on the MS Gulf Coast

MS Dept. of Agriculture says prices set by ‘supply & demand’

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

St. Louis and Waveland have been higher than elsewhere on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, including Diamondhead, Pass Christian and Gulfport.

“Prices all over Louisiana and Mississippi are below $3 a gallon,” one Echo reader said. “Slidell average is $2.99 and they are usually 10 cents more a gallon than us and Pass Christian is currently $2.79 a gallon.”

SANTA’S COMING TO TOWN

Santa Claus came to town last Thursday for the annual Diamondhead Christmas on the Green celebration — and will return to Hancock County this weekend for parades in Bay St. Louis, Kiln and Diamondhead.

“We’ve got a huge turnout tonight,” Diamondhead Mayor Nancy Depreo said Thursday during the Christmas on the Green celebration. “People really seem to be enjoying themselves.”

Santa and Mrs. Claus stopped by the celebration to meet with children, Buddy the Elf handed out treats, and city employees handed out pizza and popcorn.

There was also face-painting, train rides, a bounce house and more.

And now, Depreo said, “Santa’s mailbox will be available at the Club near the walking trail. You can drop your letter off to Santa until Dec. 17.”

The Christmas in the Bay Parade had initially been canceled due to a forecast for inclement weather prompted the city to cancel it. However, City Clerk Mike Reso said, due to popular demand, the city decided to reschedule it for this Friday, Dec. 9, beginning at 6 p.m.

The parade will start at the Bay St. Louis Harbor, roll up Court Street to Second, turn right and head to deMontluzin, then back down to Beach Boulevard and over to Main Street, where it will end at the Hancock County courthouse to showcase the illumination of the 2022 Christmas tree. A choir will perform on the steps of the courthouse after the parade.

Then, Santa’s on to the Kiln.

The annual Kiln Fire Truck Parade is scheduled to roll on Saturday, Dec. 10, beginning at noon. Fire trucks will parade through the Kiln on the way to meet Santa, starting at Bobinger Rd. and Old Kiln Picayune Rd., heading to Old Joe Moran Rd., where it turns left and heads to Cuevas Rd, crosses on to Hwy. 43 and heads to the storm shelter. Santa will be at the shelter to meet with the children. The public is invited to participate. To enter a float, the cost is $50, or $20 for four-wheelers or side-by-sides. Call 228-493-5666.

The annual Kiln Horse Parade is scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 11, beginning at noon. More than 75 horses and wagons will bring Christmas cheer to the streets of Kiln during the parade, which starts at the end of Bobinger Road. It will continue up the Kiln/Picayune Road, past Dolly’s to West River Road,

Coastal Environmental donates smoke detectors to the Hancock County Food Pantry

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Last week, Coastal Environmental Services donated 108 smoke detectors to the Hancock County Food Pantry.

Coastal Environmental Services President Gus Bordelon said that they decided to donate the items after a fire earlier this year killed four people in Hancock County.

“The reality of it is, if they had had a smoke detector, they probably would have survived,” he said. “We just felt it was a good time. This time of the year, a lot of people are using heaters and we just thought it would be a good way to give something back to the county.”

Marshall Kyger, executive director of the Hancock County Food Pantry, said when pantry clients drive through in their vehicles, greeters will ask them if they could use a smoke detector.

“So, the first 108 people who say ‘yes’ will get them,” he said.

Hancock County families can apply for the emergency food assistance program online via the Hancock Resource Center’s website at www.hancockhrc.wufoo.com/forms/hancock-county-food-pantry-onetime-registration.

If people are unable to complete the form online, they can call 228-304-9561 on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon.

According to the HRC website, “this program is for those in need of food assistance, participants must be able to demonstrate financial need. Spaces are limited per week, available on a first- come first-serve basis.”

The pantry is currently open on Tuesdays and Thursdays (except holidays) from 9 a.m. to noon.

Kyger said that existing clients have to re-certify on an annual basis, which is done at the pantry, about a month before they are due to re-certify.

Clients are given an instruction sheet telling them what they have to bring for re-certification, he said.

Kyger said Wednesday’s donation of smoke detectors was “wonderful.”

“This is a new corporate citizen in Hancock County,” Kyger said. “We’re extremely honored and gratified that they selected us to participate with them.”

The pantry is located at 9972 Hwy. 603, Bay St. Louis. For more information, call 228-467-

Bay adopts new health insurance plan that saves city and employees money

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The Bay St. Louis City Council last week voted to accept a new health insurance plan that will both reduce deductibles for employees and save the city money.

“It lowers the deductibles to $1,000 for a single plan and $2,000 for a family plan, and still saves the city about $18,000 a year,” City Clerk Michael Reso said.

The council heard a presentation from Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mis-issippi representative Gary Yarbrough during its regularly-scheduled meeting last Tuesday before adopting the new plan, which becomes effective Jan. 1.

Previously, employees paid $3,000 deductibles on individual plans and $6,000 on family plans.

In other action last week, the council:

- Heard a presentation from Paula Fairconnetue on the possible creation of a pickle ball court in the city. City Engineer Jason Chiniche has drawn sketches of a possible facility, which would also need parking, lighting and fencing. Council President Jeffrey Reed discussed the possibility of converting one of the basketball courts at the newly-renovated Martin Luther King Park into a pickle ball court. The council will address the matter further at future meetings.

- Approved a $70,917 payment to Gill’s Crane & Dozer Services Inc. for the Bay St. Louis Bayou La Croix Boat Launch project.
- Approved a $615,212 payment to Dan Hensarling, Inc., for construction of the Bay St. Louis Public Safety Complex on Main Street.

- Spread on the minutes the full executed Memorandum of Agreement between the city and the Mississippi Department of Transportation for the Hwy. 603 Turn Lane Extension Project. The project will improve turn lanes on Hwy. 603 from I-10 to Hwy. 90. The MOA will provide about $180,000 in federal funding for the project, approximately 80 percent of the cost with a 20 percent local match.

Make Believe

It's that time of year again, when the myth of Santa Claus runs rampant and the threats of "no presents under the Christmas tree if you're bad" go unfulfilled.

That magical time of year when parents yell at others who promote the truth, that Santa Claus is not a real person who breaks into peoples' homes delivering gifts.

That blessed time of year when showing love for one another involves a significant price tag and/or fighting with other shoppers for the coveted items.

Yes, over the years, I've become very disenchanted with the holidays. Don't worry, thought police, I do still enjoy my family's tradition of Christmas Eve eggnog, the yearly viewing of "It's A Wonderful Life," and Christmas morning beignets. I haven't turned complete Scrooge yet, but it's definitely on my bucket list.

And, once again, I'm so proud that I planned well and managed to get my nephew's Christmas presents ordered and mailed to Alaska on time. No, I haven't given him any spoilers.

Besides the obsession with consumerism, my other biggest gripe is the Santa Claus thing and that creepy voyeur, the Elf on the Shelf.

I know, I know, what about the "magic?"

Well, I think that there are ways to still have a magical feeling while also keeping children mindful of what's reality and what's fiction.

Let's face it, nowadays, MANY adults need to learn that lesson.

Having an imagination is one of the best things. I'm always in awe of my nephew's creative abilities. He has become quite the little artist and even drew the cutest little newspaper article complete with pictures, cutlines, and a story. Yes, my heart almost burst.

I have several favorite things from my childhood that I remember with fondness. I was a big fan of Rainbow Brite, the Cabbage Patch Dolls, Hello Kitty, My Little Pony, Disney characters, etc.

But, I always knew they weren't real life people.

They were merely characters on the screen, plastic toys, and adornments on overpriced office supplies. I once had a severe obsession with colorful gel pens, Sanrio office supplies, and Lisa Frank licensed folders and notebooks.

I seem to be cured, but sometimes that itch will yearn to be scratched again.

My sister and I used to pretend that we were mothers and take our Cabbage Patch dolls to the doctor and shopping at the grocery store aka my parents' food pantry.

Hancock History: Russell Guerin (1932-2022)

Russell Guerin has researched and published much history of Hancock County. He is very proud of his work on one of the most beautiful old waterfront mansions in Waveland, the Pirate House, which was destroyed by Hurricane Camille. The building was constructed around 1803 and was a perfect example of the Louisiana planter type of house. Charles Gayarre writes in his "History of Louisiana" that "Negros were smuggled into the territory through Spanish possessions by way of Lakes Borgne, Pontchartrain, and Maurepas." Guerin discovered documentation in Colonial Spanish records indicating ownership of the Pirate House by Louis Boisdore and Antonine Peytavin who were related by marriage. Peytavin was a resident merchant of New Orleans whose family were planters in South Louisiana around Convent in St. James Parish. In addition, Peytavin bought and sold slaves both legally and illegally. Louisiana records show that he had 218 known legal transactions in slaves. The Pirate House was a site of dealing slaves serving as a relay station to transfer this precious cargo from ocean-going vessels to smaller boats such as schooners and sloops for the passage around New Orleans to the Mississippi River above the port for the ultimate destination of the cotton plantations around Natchez. The Pirate House was dealing slaves in 1806-1807 when it was seized by Spanish authorities for slave trafficking in 1807. Guerin successfully debunked local legend that this house was owned and operated by the infamous pirate, Jean Lafitte.

Another legend peddled around Hancock County for over a century was the one that claimed President Andrew Jackson bought land in the present-day location of Buccaneer Park next to Clermont Harbor. The Plantation was known as "Sea Song." Russell did some excellent research which demonstrated quite convincingly that it was the president's son, Andrew Jackson, Jr., who bought the property from Asa Russ around 1860. Conservation Corner: Hypothermia

While for the most part we live in a warm state, Mississippi can get very cold, especially when considering our high humidity. For example, a few years ago a friend came to visit from Colorado and wanted to go for a jog early one January morning. I told him it was cold—about 35 degrees Fahrenheit—and he reminded he was from Colorado and could handle it. When he returned, he said if felt much colder than what he was familiar with out West.

When we are in a cold environment, our bodies can lose heat faster than it can generate it. The body will adjust by constricting blood vessels at the surface of the skin, shutting down perspiration and increasing muscular activity, which we call shivering. This is the beginning of hypothermia. Hypothermia is one of the leading causes of death among outdoorsmen. Wind-chill can greatly reduce the time it takes for hypothermia to set in.

Some symptoms of hypothermia (defined as a body temperature of less than 95 degrees Fahrenheit) may also include slurred speech, incoherence, numbness, and impaired gait. Shivering is valuable clue, but hypothermic individuals whose body temperature is lower than 90 degrees Fahrenheit may not shiver or even feel cold. The individual may appear corpse-like due to the pale color of his or her skin, lack of spontaneous motion, and a faint pulse.

Odds are, medical attention is needed, but until that can be accomplished, you need to begin gradually re-warming the affected person. First, remove all wet clothing and place the victim in dry blankets in a warm environment. Offer warm, non-alcoholic fluids. Movement involving the victim must be limited and done gently. The goal should be to get the victim to a hospital as soon as possible, for the potential complications are many and some can even be fatal.

To help prevent hypothermia from happening to you, wear suitable clothing and protect your exposed areas. Mittens are preferred over gloves. Wear multiple layers of loose clothing. Wearing two pairs of socks—cotton next to skin, wool on top—will help protect your feet. Wear a scarf or head covering.

If you are camping, use the appropriate sleeping bag for the temperature. Heating up water, putting it in a bottle, and placing it in the sleeping bag will help keep one warm too.

Remember that certain persons are very susceptible—the elderly, those with circulatory problems (peripheral vascular disease, diabetes, peripheral neuropathy, Raynaud's syndrome), and those on certain medications such as beta-blockers (for hypertension and/or heart problems). You certainly want to stay on your medication, but be aware that it may put you at increased risk for cold injury should you have prolonged exposure to the cold.

Waveland Police Department busts alleged shoplifting ring

ECHO STAFF

Officers of the Waveland Police Department on Monday arrested three people suspected of shoplifting at Walmarts all along the Coast and issued warrants for a fourth suspect.
At around 5:44 p.m. on Monday, Chief Michael Prendergast said in a press release, “Waveland officers responded to Waveland Walmart at 460 Hwy. 90 regarding possible shoplifters. Walmart Asset Protection employees were alerted earlier in the day about four subjects in a yellow Chevrolet Camaro who were going into Walmarts along the Coast and shoplifting merchandise.

“The four subjects entered the Waveland Walmart and concealed items on their person and inside of a tote and attempted to exit the store.”
Prendergast said officers observed the Camaro parked in front of the store. A woman got in the vehicle and “slowly drove to another area in the parking lot and then returned,” he said, and officers stopped the car and detained her.
“Two males were detained inside the store,” Prendergast said, and another woman “made her way through the parking lot and was not located.”

Arrested at the scene were:
• Keith J. Bell, 45, of Gulfport, charged with felony shoplifting, trespassing and contempt of court.
• Brian Keith Johnson, 44, of Gulfport, charged with felony shoplifting and trespassing.
• Mahalia L. Willis, 24, of Biloxi, charged with felony shoplifting and trespassing. She was also wanted by the Slidell Police Department for felony shoplifting and is awaiting extradition.
Warrants have also been issued for Kalisha Crockett, 24, of Gulfport, who will be charged with felony shoplifting and trespassing, Prendergast said.

our county. The book covers diverse subjects such as Indians, pirates, plantations, slavery, the Civil War, tax rolls, and early pioneer life. He was fascinated by old records, property deeds, death certificates, court documents, and newspaper articles. He enjoyed researching subjects as much as he liked writing history and reported “...sometimes doing research, just when you think that you are at a dead end, there is a surprise discovery and an ‘eureka moment!’” Russell donated his entire website of over ninety articles about history to the Hancock County Historical Society available to all for purposes of research and study. The Award Committee of the Mississippi Historical Society selected Russell Guerin to be presented an Award of Merit at the March 10-11 meeting in Hattiesburg.

In conclusion, the streets of Clermont Harbor are mostly empty, and the forest has re-grown over most of the original lots. The street names are still visible and reminders of the early planter families that owned cotton plantations or cobbled together land development enterprises to establish a beach resort destination. Sadly, hurricanes ultimately destroyed the “Riviera of New Orleans.” Historian Russell Guerin wrote much of the history of this special place. He has been a mentor and a role model for the members of the Hancock County Historical Society.

It was fun practicing real life events with our dolls.
I’ve always liked the thoughts of unicorns and fantasy-ridden animations like my coveted Studio Ghibli films filled with soot sprites, Totoros, dragons, and more.
For a brief period, I’m transported to a magical place and provided an escape from reality.
Yes, it is very possible to still enjoy the imagery of Santa Claus without perpetuating the myth.

Everybody always talks about the importance of being honest, but we all lie about these “people”: Santa, Easter Bunny, Tooth Fairy, etc.
So what is the lesson of Santa Claus? I have yet to find one. I mean, he only seems to serve as a Holly Jolly icon for consumerism, gluttony, giving out presents no one earned, and burglary.
By now, I think mostly everyone is far too programmed to ever de-Santa Claus anything, but maybe just by starting with the truth, that there isn’t any plausible way this man can deliver gifts to every home around the globe in one night is a good start.

Let’s teach children that the real magic lies within them. Show them how compassion, kindness, critical thinking skills, and caring for your fellow human beings can be some of the most magical things of all.

Loislyn Susan Blanchard Scardino

Loislyn Susan Blanchard Scardino, born on the 11th of August, 1939, entered into eternal life on the 1st of December, 2022.

She and her husband, Angelo Joseph 'A.J.' Scardino Jr., shared over 56 years together in a life devoted to God and their 10 children. Living a life guided by faith and strong sense of commitment, Loislyn had an unwavering love for Jesus Christ and a fervent commitment to the Catholic Church. She maintained deep devotion to our holy mother Mary, with special dedication to Our Lady of Prompt Succor.

Born in New Orleans, Loislyn was raised on the west bank in Gretna, Louisiana. She graduated from Ursuline Academy and studied accounting at Southwestern Louisiana where during her first week of college, she met the love of her life. They married 4 months later.

As a strong matriarch, Loislyn built loving homes for her family in Westwego, Gretna, and Covington, Louisiana and in Nashville, Tennessee. Then for 40 years called Pass Christian, Mississippi her home. Her enormous dinner table was always open to those brave enough to step into the joyous chaos of her big red house. In addition to raising her own 5 girls and 5 boys, Loislyn welcomed countless extended children into her family, providing love, care and occasional discipline to all that needed it. Many looked to her as a 'second mother'.

Loislyn was beautiful, inside and out, and an inspiration to all who met her. Family, friends and acquaintances found her gracious, caring, loving, hardworking, and of the highest ethical standards. For decades, she worked tirelessly alongside A.J.

as entrepreneurs and business owners: trophy company, pig farm (in case you ever wondered why she collected porcelain pigs), engineering consultancy, risk management company, and even after retirement, she worked at an insurance agency. She spent her most recent years living with her daughter in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Loislyn was preceded in death by her parents, Lamie & Lynn Blanchard, her husband A.J., her daughter Lynda Scardino Williams and husband Daniel.

Her legacy lives on through 9 surviving children: Angelyn Scardino Treutel Zeringue (Mickey), Debra Scardino Treutel (Steve), Michael Jude Scardino (Patricia), Dennis John Scardino (Joyce), Kevin James Scardino (Sherrie), Matthew Joseph Scardino (Connally), Jan Scardino Latino (Marty), Paul Jason Scardino, Mary Scardino Nash (Dylan), 15 grandchildren, and 10 great grandchildren. In Loislyn's final years, Deirdre Bradley became a trusted friend and part of our Scardino family.

A Catholic Mass celebrating the life of Loislyn Scardino will be held on 17 th December, 2022 at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Visitation will be hosted by the family at 10:00 AM followed by the most Holy Mass commencing at 11:00 AM. Following mass, there will be a private burial service at Gulf Coast Memorial Cemetery and Mausoleum on Longfellow Drive in Bay St Louis.

In lieu of flowers please consider a tax deductible donation to the A.J. & Loislyn Scardino Fund for the benefit of Our Lady Academy and St Stanislaus scholarships for students who exhibit faith and discipline. c/o Pershing-AJ & Loislyn Scardino Fund, 2054 Gause Boulevard East Slidell, LA 70461.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS is honored to serve the family of Loislyn Blanchard Scardino.

Pearl Harbor Day

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

As President Franklin Roosevelt declared, “Today is a day that will live in infamy”. This declaration was made in response to the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. That day did, in fact, live in infamy, and its implications changed the course of history.

My parents were young newlyweds on that day. They were attempting to find a direction for their lives. They were visiting some extended family in southwest Louisiana when they heard the news on the radio.

My mother would say in later years that they knew at once that their lives were about to change. They certainly did.

In a short while my father was in the Marine Corps and on his way to the Pacific where he was involved in several fierce engagements, including the battle of Saipan. He was seriously injured which was complicated by an attack on the hospital ship on which he was a passenger by a Japanese war plane. This caused him to be thrown overboard. Somehow, he was rescued and survived. Otherwise, I would not have been born.

I have often thought about those days. It is evident that my own life is, in many ways, a result of these events. I was, of course, not aware of it at the time, or for many years afterward, but it marked the course of my existence. It clearly impacted his life for the rest of his days. My father never really recovered from that war, but he was able to go on with his life. We grew up as a middle-class family in post-war America. Our family grew, and I have a brother and sister who remain an important part of my life.

My parents are long gone now, but I often think of them and the lives that they lived. They were not perfect. They had their challenges, but they gave their children a solid foundation on which we built our own lives. In the many nuances of life, we still find much for which to be thankful.

There is no doubt that many families across our country have memories and histories which are similar. The details may differ, but the truth is much the same. Young men went to war. They did not cause it.

Most barely understood it, but they went. Some paid with their lives, or with significant injuries, both physical and mental, which would remain with them throughout their days. It is part of the heritage of our country.

As a person of faith, I often ponder the mysteries of war. The history of the world is replete with conflict, killing of fellow human beings, and claims of glory. War is a painful reminder of the human condition.

Many times, we resort to fighting rather than negotiating to resolve our differences. There is a better way. Spiritual faith points us to that way.

Although it is true that religion has often participated in war; it is also true that spirituality points to peace. On this Pearl Harbor Day may we remember and honor those who gave so much. May we also work and pray for peace.

Shore Thing: Murphy’s Law

Shore Thing Fishing Report
By Cpt. Sonny Schindler

Murphy’s Law basically means, if anything can go wrong, it will. Personally I’ve never been a fan of that mindset, even though I’ve been a victim of Murphy’s Law(many times).

Enter my good friend, and cousin Brian Murphy. “Murph” as we like to call him, is a very like-able guy. He works at Stanislaus(Go Rocks), but once worked in Hollywood. He has a DJ side hustle where he ONLY plays vinyl records. Most importantly, Murph is a great husband and Dad.

His boys Waits and Luken have gotten bitten by the fishing bug. Waits enjoys fishing, but I’m convinced his younger brother Luken would trade any video game in the world for a fishing trip.

A few weeks back, Murph and I were at his house, talking about fishing. He made me get my phone out, and mark book a date around Thanksgiving with his boys and Dad(aka Bill or Gramps). I just assumed it was gonna be a reschedule, with unpredictable November cold fronts. Murphy’s law right?...

Much to my surprise, the Murphy boys got calm seas, cool temperatures, and fantastic fishing. It was really an awesome day.

Young Luken caught his biggest fish to date, with a 22 pound drum!!! Waits and when we dialed in the fish in Bay St Louis,

Mr Bill put up some strong numbers and size. The bites on the live shrimp were very soft, and when they learned to feel for that little tap, it was one after another. Luken was like a man possessed. I haven’t fished with him in a while, and man has he gotten good. Through patience and persistence, he has become a fishing machine. The sheepshead and puppy drum didn’t stand a chance. I was even more impressed that they released all the fish to be caught another day.

Murph never touched a fishing pole. He and I were the deckhands, but we always find a way to talk about music. He’s about the only person I’ve ever fished with, that can appreciate my diverse taste in music. Between the fishing, the stellar conversation and the fantastic weather I could’ve stayed out there for hours. I was getting a little worried that something might ruin our near perfect day, so after several hours, we headed in.

We didn’t wanna test “Murphy’s Law”...

Tuscaloosa Mayor Receives the Tommy Longo Disaster Leadership Award

SEA COAST ECHO

Tuscaloosa Mayor Walt Maddox was humble as he accepted a new nationwide award to honor city and county officials who lead their communities well through a major disaster.

"I am not deserving," said the five-term mayor who was recognized for his leadership after a monster EF4 tornado devastated the Alabama city in April 2011, killing 41 and damaging or destroying more than 5000 homes and 600 businesses.

The Tommy Longo Disaster Leadership Award was created by LeadersLink, a nonprofit that harnesses and shares elected officials' disaster lessons learned to help other communities better prevent, prepare for and recover from crises.

Nominations for the award came from around the country, with nominees leading recoveries from wildfires, floods, tornadoes and hurricanes.

The three-judge panel praised Maddox, saying, "While it took almost ten years, as it often does in large disasters, the community is so much better for Mayor Maddox's leadership in the disaster and in the recovery of his community."

LeadersLink Founder and Executive Director Kathleen Koch explained that after a cluster of tornadoes swept through the university town of Bowling Green, Kentucky in 2021, Maddox and his staff volunteered to speak with them about Tuscaloosa's tornado experience.

"He really epitomizes the spirit of this award," she said. "Giving, sharing, passing on what he's learned to help others in need."

The award is named after the late mayor of Waveland, Mississippi, John "Tommy" Longo. He led the city's successful recovery from Hurricane Katrina and volunteered to serve as one of LeadersLink's first mentors, sharing what he had learned with other mayors whose towns had been damaged by hurricanes.

Koch presented the award November 8 at the Municipal Leadership Institute in Orange Beach, Alabama, organized by the Alabama League of Municipalities which nominated Maddox.

"We're all going to face a crisis. Be ready for that moment," Maddox told the audience of mayors and city leaders. "If you're ever in trouble, just know we're going to be there for you."

Mayor Longo's sisters, daughter and son-in-law joined in the award presentation.

LeadersLink is now accepting nominations for the 2023 Tommy Longo Disaster Leadership Award on its website.
